

Shore project

It was only a matter of time before we saw Delta in New Zealand. Like many construction projects, work at 7 Shea Terrace was forced to stop as we were sent quickly into Alert Level 4 and told to go home to stay safe.

Our thoughts go out to all our North Shore neighbours and local businesses who have been impacted by the sudden lockdown. We hope you and your family are keeping safe in this challenging time.

Return to Shea Terrace delayed

In our last update we were on track to welcome the first of our patients back to the newly refurbished Inpatient Unit early this month. Sadly, due to the Level 4 lockdown and our project team unable to go onsite, our return has been delayed. For every week Auckland is at Level 4, our return date will be pushed out by a week.

At this stage, we expect work to recommence on site at Alert Level 3.

Our frontline heroes

While many Harbour Hospice staff are working from home, our incredible frontline nurses, doctors, family support team members, reception and clinical admin teams leave the safety of their bubbles every day to continue to be there for our patients and their families.

While they are eager to see the first phase of construction complete and to welcome patients back to the Inpatient Unit, they continue to display the utmost professionalism and commitment to delivering safe patient care in the most challenging of situations.

Thanks to the generosity of our donors, we have raised $8.5 million but we need further support from our community to secure this vital project for local patients and families. Please see the last page to find out how you can help us reach our $10 million target.

Locals supporting locals

What's incredible about this project is the way our community has got behind us. In this update we want to give gratitude to the Smale family and Smales Farm. We have a long association of working together, and we're honoured to partner with Smales Farm on numerous initiatives to raise vital funds for our service.

We give our heartfelt thanks for the very generous financial support they've given this project. We are also very lucky to have Greg Smale on our project team, providing voluntary expert advice on our Shea Terrace Development Committee and Project Control Group. Thank you, Greg!

Meet the team

Sam Ross – Building team

How long have you worked in construction?
25 years.

What attracted you to the industry?
I've always enjoyed the work.

What do you love about it?
I really enjoy problem solving and seeing the finished result.

What's the strangest thing you've ever seen on a construction site?
I once saw a kangaroo being cooked on a BBQ onsite in the Aussie outback.

What's something you enjoy that might surprise us?
I've been lucky to have travelled the world in my industry.

What's one thing you've learned about Harbour Hospice since you started working on this project?
Just how much the staff truly care for the patients they look after.

"Staff truly care for the patients they look after."
